

Bruno Crestani is Professor of Pneumology at the Paris-Diderot University, head of the department of pneumology and rare pulmonary diseases of the Bichat-Claude Bernard hospital in Paris, and director of the Inserm research team "Inflammation and pulmonary fibrosis" at the Faculty Xavier Bichat. His research interests include the genetics of pulmonary fibroses and the identification of new therapeutic targets in pulmonary fibrosis.