

Sergio Harari, Division of Pneumology, San Giuseppe Hospital, Milan, Italy.

Sergio Harari is chief of the Department of medicine and director of the Unità Operativa di Pneumologia at San Giuseppe Hospital, Milan, that he founded in 1999. The Division is a national reference for the diagnosis and care of rare pulmonary diseases.

Dr. Harari's fields of interest cover rare pulmonary diseases (IPF, LAM, Pulmonary Langerhans' cell histiocytosis, Pulmonary hypertension, etc.) and clinical research on orphan drugs. In addition Dr. Harari is author of numerous publications in international peer-reviewed journals and specialty books and is editor in chief of the European Respiratory Review and Associate Editor of European Respiratory Journal.