

Eirini Vasarmidi MD, MSc, PhD candidate

Residency Training Doctor
Department of Respiratory Medicine
University Hospital of Heraklion, Crete, Greece

Eirini Vasarmidi is a resident doctor in the department of Respiratory Medicine, at the University Hospital of Heraklion, Crete, Greece. After graduated from the Medical School of the University of Crete, she completed a MSc in Molecular Biology of Human Diseases and she is now a PhD candidate in the Laboratory of Molecular and Cellular Pulmonology of the Medical University of Crete, Greece.

Her research interests include fibrotic interstitial lung diseases mainly focusing on the pathogenetic mechanisms and the role of alveolar macrophages.

She has 5 publications in peer reviewed international journals and has participated in many ERS seminars and conferences. She participated as a presenter in 4 of them and has received twice award for oral presentations in the Hellenic Thoracic Society Congress, and one research award from the Hellenic Thoracic Society.